Ryusuke Bushimata specializes in cross-border M&A, as well as inbound and outbound investments. He provides legal counsel on economic security and foreign direct investment (FDI) issues, drawing on his experience as a senior official at the International Bureau of the Ministry of Finance. During his tenure there, he was responsible for developing the inward direct investment system, overseeing investment screening, and coordinating with both domestic and international government agencies. Additionally, he has extensive experience in legal and compliance matters within the pharmaceutical and medical device industries, having begun his career in the compliance department of a leading Japanese pharmaceutical company.
